

Preface

The Rhythm Drill Book Series 2nd Edition

The Rhythm Drill Book Series 2nd Edition is a resource for aspiring musicians of all ages and disciplines to improve their sense of rhythm and meter. Every teacher has seen students struggle with interpreting rhythmic patterns, either when learning new repertoire or when sight reading. Even if the rhythmic execution is technically correct, the underlying pulse may be unsteady or lacking in forward momentum.

The Rhythm Drill Books were developed in response to the need for graded drills to learn critical rhythmic skills. They can be used for home practice and during lessons, as well as for semi-private or group settings. Through regular practice, the Drill Books help develop a stronger sense of rhythm and pulse, and at the same time improve sight reading abilities.

The Series is divided into three levels, available in one complete volume as a teachers' resource, or separately for students' use. The levels are loosely based on the RCM 2022 Piano Syllabus*.

- Junior Preparatory and Levels 1 to 4
- Intermediate Levels 5 to 8
- Senior Levels 9 to ARCT

Features in the Series . . .

- white boxes highlight the featured rhythmic patterns and/or meters
- blank measures provide space to create customized drills
- ties and "pick-ups" can be added as required

Using the Rhythm Drill Books

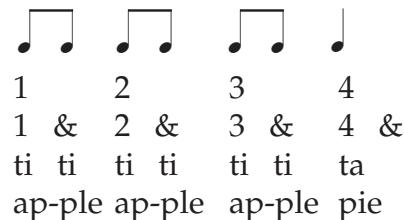

Meter

- meter is the regular pulse or basic beat
- to keep the beat steady:
 - use a metronome
 - tap the beat with the foot
 - count the beat out loud
 - tap the beat with the left hand, while tapping the rhythm with the right hand

Rhythm

- rhythm is the variety of patterns heard within the context of the basic beat
- to execute the rhythm correctly, use one of the following methods:

- count the basic beat
- count the subdivisions
- articulate the rhythm with syllables
- articulate the rhythm with words

Reading the Drills

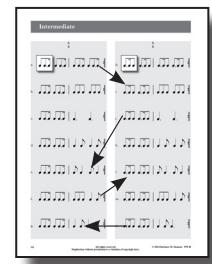

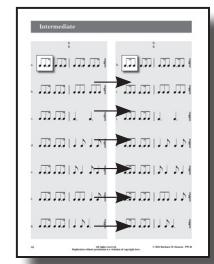

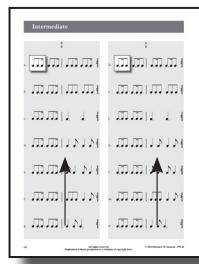

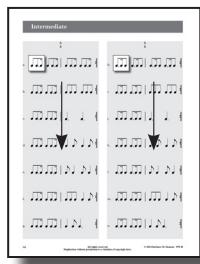

- to practice the drills, read:

top to bottom

bottom to top left to right

in random order

Too Easy?

- execute the rhythms while tapping the basic beat and count out loud
- continue from one drill to the next without pausing
- increase the metronome speed and be sure to look ahead to the next drill
- practice the rhythms as duets:
 - one person taps the basic beat while the other taps the rhythm
 - one person taps the first column, while the other taps the second
 - each person taps rhythms from a selected column in any order they choose
